Recovery Court

Judge Mark W. Latchana is designated as the Recovery Court judge, until further order of the court. All cases accepted into recovery court shall be assigned to Judge Latchana.

Veterans Treatment Court

Judge Khary L. Hanible is designated as the Veteran's Court judge, until further order of the court. All felony cases accepted into Veteran's Court shall be assigned to Judge Hanible.

Mental Health Court

Judge B. Chris Christenson is designated as the Mental Health Court judge, until further order of the court. All felony cases accepted into Mental Health Court shall be assigned to Judge Christenson.

Criminal Case Processing

Pursuant to the Concurrent Jurisdiction Plan (LAO 2004-4) a circuit judge will be assigned by lot, at the same time that a district judge is assigned.

If a single defendant is arraigned, in the district court, on multiple single defendant felony cases, scheduled for the same initial probable cause conference date, all cases will be re-assigned to the district and circuit judge assigned to the lowest case number.

In multiple defendant cases, the circuit judge assigned to the defendant with the earliest arraignment date will be the judge assigned to all co-defendant cases, pursuant to MCR 8.111(D)(1).

If a single defendant case is bound over to circuit court and the defendant has an earlier single defendant circuit court case pending or a closed case with an active probation violation pending, the judge to whom the earlier case is assigned will be reassigned to the subsequent case.

Every 90 days, the court administrator will compile a list of all criminal cases assigned to each judge. If directed by the Chief Judge, action may be taken to balance the pending criminal docket.

Re-assignments will be made in the following circumstances:

- Petitions where both parties have a pending domestic matter in common will be re-assigned to the judge assigned to the earliest domestic case.
- If there is no common case pending between the parties, the Petition will be re-assigned to the judge assigned to any personal protection order pending against the same Respondent.
- Subsequent requests for personal protection orders between the same parties shall be assigned to the judge who was assigned to the earlier matter.

Extreme Risk Protection Orders (ERPO)

The clerk of the court will assign extreme risk protection orders to Family Division judges under the following circumstances:

If an immediate ex parte extreme risk protection order is issued by the ERPO duty judge, the case will be assigned to the issuing duty judge.

If a petition for an extreme risk protection order is made during regular business hours of the court, the clerk shall assign the petition by blind draw in the following manner:
